

A theft

You`re frustrated your despair won`t let you go
Isolated from a world appears so cold
How come you feel so tired
How come you didn`t oppose the theft
Delusive signs stolen time
Lost in trial & tribulations
Everybody needs a source of strenght and hope
Hear a call from everywhere around the world
Instead you`re almost stupified by this modern way of life
Living inside a balloon might burst rather soon
Instead you`re waiting for your share the devil may care oh yeah for
You
How come you feel so tired
How come you didn`t oppose the theft
Delusive signs stolen time
Lost in trials & tribulations
You`re frustrated your despair won`t let you go
Isolated from a world appears so cold
Come on you gotta draw a line you`re better of thinking twice
About the price you have to pay when your instincts gone astray
Come on it`s just an alibi that ain`t hard to classify
I think I just call it a theft